Do we work with or against nature in our gardening practices?

Should we re-think our relationship to the world around us?

Is there a way to create a more sustainable environment in our garden and landscape?

These are a few of the thought provoking questions that will be explored in the discussion of Permaculture 101.

Rob has worked at tree farms, nurseries and garden centers all over the U.S. He is a certified arborist and the founder of Medina Permaculture.
